'WWT a bridge between people and traffic police'

150 Motorists Win Gifts On 3th Day Of TOI Initiative

L. Anand Kumar & Kanishk Prakash

Vijayawada: The WWT (Win With The Times) campaign by The Times of India has made a head start as 150 motorists won gifts for their compliance with traffic rules. The initiative is a joint effort of the Times of India and the Traffic Police.

The WWT campaign is a joint effort of the Times of India and the Traffic Police. It is a part of the 'Win With The Times' initiative. The campaign is aimed at promoting traffic safety and awareness among motorists.

On the third day of the initiative, 150 motorists won gifts for their compliance with traffic rules. The gifts include road safety kits, reflective vests, and other useful items.

The gifts were distributed by the Traffic Police officers. The motorists who were lucky enough to win the gifts were from various parts of Vijayawada.

150 Vehicle Users Get TOI Goodies On Day 11

A Anand Kumar

Vijayawada: The WWT (Win With The Times) campaign held in Police Control Room Junction witnessed a vibrant response from the people of Vijayawada on its 11th day here on Wednesday.

The TOI team, along with circle inspector and sub-inspector of police P. Murali Ramakrishna and P. Vijaya Kumar, respectively, gave away surprise gifts to 150 commuters who were scrupulously following the traffic norms.

Murali Ramakrishna congratulated TOI for successfully continuing the campaign which is creating the much-needed discussion among the commuters. He said that he had noticed a positive change in the commuters in the last three weeks when the initiative had begun.

SI P. Vijaya Kumar, speaking to TOI said, "This is the first newspaper I have ever known which has come forward to conduct such a campaign to create awareness among the people about traffic rules and is able to earn a great response from the people."

Satish, a private employee, who is one of the lucky winners of the day, said, "I usually use helmet and seat belt whenever I go on a drive. I also encourage my friends to follow the same road safety norms."

One of the shareholders from the Capital Region Development Authority (CRDA) B. Sita was surprised on seeing TOI
